Title: Back To The Music (1977)

Artist: MASS

The history of Mass goes back to 1973, when Günther V. Radny (the V. stands for Viktor) started the formation Black Mass with singer Josef Hartl, guitarist Walter Speck and Swiss drummer Charles Frey (now known as Akron).

After Speck dropped out due to psychological problems with fatal consequences, he was replaced by the Saarbrücken guitarist Gerd Schneider, who had previously played with Scorpions drummer Hermann Erbel aka Herman Rarebell at RS Rindfleisch.

Schneider, however, had to leave after one year because of massive drug problems and was replaced by the English guitarist Mick Thackeray (The Merseys), who played in Switzerland with the Slaves and Countdowns, and in Munich with Abi Ofarim.

At the same time, Johannes Eder, coming from the English band I Drive, replaced drummer Frey, who, according to Radny, had „gone on a book tour“. In addition, the band name was shortened to Mass. With this lineup, MASS recorded an album in April 1975 at Studio 7o in Munich with Dave Siddle at the mixing desk, who had worked with the Beatles, Jimy Hendrix, Jeff Beck, Animals and Deep Purple, among others.

Due to singer Josef Hartl’s drug problems, this album was never released. Unfortunately, these tapes got lost and still are today. But the troubled times continued: one year later Hartl (drug problems, died 1998) and Thackeray (excessive alcohol consumption), had to leave. In 1976 the band was stabilized as a trio for the first time with Detlef „Dave“ Schreiber, who had come from Berlin to become the new guitarist.

In 1977 the album „Back To The Music“ was released at United Artists Records (Hawkwind, ELO, Don McLean). Subsequently, Mass became known as a partly boogie-oriented hard rock group, then as a heavy metal band. Today they enjoy kind of pioneer status similar to Accept, Scorpions, Trance or Fargo.

After temporarily changing their name to Monsters, band boss Günther V Radny recently returned with Mass and delivered a celebrated and highly praised reunion CD.

The band was also recently honored by Golden Core/ZYX, as one track each by Mass and by Monsters can be found on the compilation „Sound & Action-German Hardrock & Heavy Metal Rarities Vol. 1“.

In the course of this cooperation the long overdue idea came up, to offer the debut album of Mass for the first time on CD (and again on vinyl).

Title: Pictures Of Reality

Artist: EXPLODER

Exploder was one of the German metal bands who, after a demo in 1987, took their destiny into their own hands by producing an LP on their own.

„Pictures Of Reality“ is the name of the impressive result. The album was released in 1988 on Rockwerk Records, a label made available, including the label code, to the bands by the Rockmusikerverein (association of rock musicians).

The partly epic metal, which often contains elements of speed metal, would have had chances at that time with one of the relevant companies (Noise, Steamhammer, Roadrunner etc.), before traditional metal got into commercial trouble in the nineties. This is ensured not only by very expressive vocals but also by an incredibly professional production (for a self-pressing).

Typical „Teutonic steel“ can often be heard but not at every second, because many sequences of the album remind of US bands like Omen or Liege Lord. In addition, two songs play longer than eight minutes.

The album was overdubbed from the master tape by Eroc (Grobschnitt) and remastered by Neudi. The booklet features 20 pages of liner notes and rare photos.

Title: Strange Lands
 Artist: NICOLE GLOVER

Time was when a jazz trio without a piano or guitar was a rare occurrence. But once Sonny Rollins went chordless at the Vanguard the die was cast and, though the instrumentation is still not exactly thick on the ground, it is an important subset in the list of saxophone-fronted jazz groups. For the last three years tenor saxophonist Nicole Glover has embraced this format with her regular band featuring colleagues Daniel Duke (bass) and Nic Cacioppo (drums). Here, for her first album with the group and her Savant Records debut, she has attracted the attention of keyboard great George Cables, who appears on four tracks of the recording. Michael J, West points out in the album's liner notes that to Glover, "Cables represents the continuum of the music, its past, present and future; she wanted that wisdom and energy to manifest itself and inform the band's work." In the trio numbers, mostly originals, the musicians display a unity of thought that goes far beyond the notes, one that takes the freedom of a chordless ensemble and runs with it. Their music is full of strength and power, challenging but communicative with a sly sense of playfulness peeking out occasionally all providing a memorable musical experience that is at once high-spirited and deeply felt.

Title: Whistling in the Dark..The Music of Burt Bacharach
Artist: DENISE DONATELLI

Denise Donatelli digs deep into the songs of Burt Bacharach on this, her fifth recording for Savant Records. The music of the immensely popular and prolific composer is well suited for this Grammy finalist who has performed in a wide variety of venues from clubs such as Catalina's, Herb Alpert's Vibrato Grill, and Mezzrow to the stage of the Municipal Opera in Prague, Czech Republic. Bacharach's sumptuous melodies sound more seductive than ever imbued with a dark moodiness which spotlights the luminous quality of the lyrics from the pens of Elvis Costello, Daniel Tashian, Bob Hilliard and, of course, Hal David. Donatelli gives us nine beautifully-recorded tracks highlighting the impressionistic and often ethereal arrangements of arranger, bassist and producer, the renowned Larry Klein. "Larry's idea," Donatelli says, "was to reimagine Bacharach's music in such a minimalistic way... to reframe them in a way that examines the very essence of the songs." Denise Donatelli and her colleagues bring unique insight into the musical legacy of one of the great American composers who helped define the course of popular music.
