Title: Techno TreasuresArtist: VARIOUS

The Italian label family MEDIA Records was highly successful in the charts from the early 90s until well into the 2000s and was strongly represented in the mainstream by artists such as Mauro Picotto, Gigi D'Agostino, Cappella and Prezioso.

It is easy to forget that in addition to the chart successes, there was also a strong connection to the underground and club culture, which was reflected in countless releases that are rightly revered today - Ricardo Ferri alias Ricky Effe, Mario Piu, Saccoman and again and again Mauro Picotto under numerous pseudonyms lived out their preference for tasteful and/or merciless tracks and remixes that were too uncompromising for the charts and clearly positioned themselves for club use!

On this mix CD, many of these tracks are now rediscovered and interwoven in the mix by DJ veteran Chris Kionke, who wants to bring these classics to a new audience and sets out to transport the treasures of yesteryear to the dancefloors of today: „Media Records Re-Discovered“.

Title: The World's Not Big Enough
 Artist: JOHN DU CANN

- the unreleased album by the Atomic Rooster guitarist from 1977
- produced and partially written by Francis Rossi (Status Quo)
- with Francis Rossi, Pete Kircher and Andy Bown from Status Quo, John McCoy (Samson, Gillan), Paul Hammond (Atomic Rooster, Hard Stuff)
- Remaster 2023 + bonus tracks and booklet with liner notes
- for fans of Atomic Rooster, Hard Stuff, Status Quo, Vardis, NWOBHM

John Du Cann was a British guitarist, singer and songwriter. He is best known as a member of the band Atomic Rooster, whose biggest hit „Devil's Answer“ he wrote.

Early bands Du Cann played with were The Sonics from Wiltshire (not to be confused with the US band of the same name) and The Attack from London, who released the song „Hi Ho Silver Lining“ a few days before Jeff Beck's better-known version. Du Cann went on to join the psychedelic rock band Andromeda before being recruited to Atomic Rooster. After leaving Atomic Rooster in 1971, he formed the band Daemon, which changed its name to Bullet, eventually performing as Hard Stuff. In 1974, he played temporarily with Thin Lizzy during two Europe tours.

In 1977, Du Cann recorded the solo album „The World's Not Big Enough“, which remained unreleased until 1992. Alongside Du Cann, Francis Rossi from Status Quo acted as producer, who also played guitar on some of the tracks. The studio musicians also included Status Quo musicians Andy Bown (keyboards) and Pete Kircher (drums) as well as John McCoy (bass, known from Samson and Gillan) and Paul Hammond (drums - Atomic Rooster, Hard Stuff). In September 1979, Du Cann had a chart success with the single „Don't Be A Dummy“ (number 33 in the UK). The track originated from the solo album of 1977 and featured in an ad for jeans in 1978.

Atomic Rooster was revived in 1980. In 1982 Du Cann left the band for good. During this time he had also played for Ginger Baker for three weeks.

Title: Voltage Controlled RealityArtist: INFRABLACK

Grundbestandteile der älteren Synthesizer waren ein VCO (Voltage Controlled Oscillator), ein VCF (Voltage Controlled Filter) und ein VCA (Voltage Controlled Amplifier). Daher die Idee, mit meinen Synthesizern eine spannungsgesteuerte Realität zu schaffen. Wie meine erste CD ist es eine Reise durch die Geschichte der Synthesizer-Sounds von den 70er Jahren bis heute. Sogar die Songs selbst spiegeln das wider. Der Titeltrack dieses Albums enthält beispielsweise ein erstes Solo, das sich deutlich auf die 80er Jahre bezieht, während das zweite die Klänge der 70er Jahre widerspiegelt. Und sein Hauptthema ist sehr zeitgenössisch. Es gibt einige orientalische Einflüsse („Enuma Elish“) und einige typisch weltraumbezogene Lieder wie „The Pleiades (auch bekannt als The Seven Sisters)“, das aus sieben Teilen besteht, wobei sich jeder Teil auf einen Stern des Asterismus bezieht. Und mit all diesen unterschiedlichen Ansätzen ist dieses Album zu einer sehr vielfältigen Sammlung instrumentaler Synthesizer-Songs geworden, die jedem Synthesizer-Liebhaber gefallen dürften.

Title: Favourite Rockabilly Hits

Artist: VARIOUS

Rockabilly is an early type of rock music that was created by white musicians in the US southern states. It was most popular from the mid-50s to the 60s and was revived in the late 70s.

Record critics first coined the term rockabilly, which literally translates as:

„rock'n roll played by hillbillies“

In the late 1940s, radio played rhythm and blues and gospel across North America, inspiring young Caucasian working-class musicians (especially in areas with African-American populations) to mix black music styles with country sounds. The result was originally labelled country-and-western rhythm and blues, but became known as rockabilly despite the mostly derogatory connotations of the word hillbilly.

Title: More Finest Acoustic Poetry Vol. 1Artist: REIDAR JENSEN

„FINEST ACOUSTIC POETRY“ - this stylistic description is decisive for the songs of Norwegian singer and songwriter Reidar Jensen. He has made a name for himself on the international music scene with his poetic songs over the decades. Many of his songs have won awards at national and international competitions.

Reidar Jensen has always remained true to his musical roots from Bob Dylan, Donovan, Leonard Cohen to Johnny Cash and James Taylor. Over the years, however, he has developed his very own style. Stylistically, the lyrically determined music shows its Scandinavian roots, enriched with elements of American folk rock.

In his LIFE songs, Reidar Jensen provides an insight into his thoughts and feelings, a sharing of the experiences that have shaped him. In his SOCIETY songs, he takes a clear-eyed look behind the scenes, revealing social problems in their unadulterated contexts. Anyone who gets involved with his songs is encouraged to reflect. His LOVE songs have many a dreamy surprise in store.

In addition to his music albums, Reidar Jensen presents his lyrics in the book „TAKE A LOOK AROUND YOU“. Unlike conventional songbooks, he tells profound stories, which are prefixed to the English lyrics in German.
