Title: ZYX Italo Disco History: 1988Artist: VARIOUS

This time the CD compilation series „ZYX Italo Disco History“ takes you back to 1988.

Even though the absolute peak of the Italo Disco wave had passed, many extraordinary titles were still released in 1988.

Brian Ice, Den Harrow, Italian Boys, Kinky Go, Koto and Radiorama were still reliably delivering big hits for the Italo Disco fan community in 1988.

As with the previous releases, the track list was compiled in close collaboration with Italo Disco legend Flemming Dalum.

Title: ...Plays Science-Fiction Movie Themesc

Artist: KOTO

Synthesizer sounds presented in a modern dance style were the recipe for the enormously popular band „Koto“, who went down in music history with their unforgettable hit „Jabdah“. The flat, spacey Koto sounds can also be listened to on the excellent album „Koto - Plays Science Fiction Movie Themes“. Not just for fans of Koto, but for all science fiction fans! Now finally available again as colored vinyl!

Title: Deus ex MachinaArtist: LIV KRISTINE

1995 was the year in which a new star appeared in the sky of gothic metal. Liv Kristine Espenæs, the angelic soprano voice alternating with the growls of Raymond I. Rohonyi of THEATRE OF TRAGEDY, has since inspired many bands of her genre. Robert Müller (Hammer), December 1997, wrote the following lines in a short biography: „With her high, clear, emotionally expressive voice, Liv Kristine has always been the center of attention. So it seems only natural to capture the beauty of this voice in pure form in a solo production.“ In 1997, Liv Kristine signed a solo contract with Massacre Records/Torsten Hartmann. Liv Kristine, who was a Master's student in English and German at the time, commuted between the University of Stuttgart and the recordings in the Illinois studio. She also toured the world with the extremely successful THEATRE OF TRAGEDY. A very special, personal highlight for Liv Kristine was October 24, 1997, when she picked up Nick Holmes (PARADISE LOST & HOST) from a tour in Ludwigsburg, Germany, on a cold fall morning. After a cup of black tea and a slice of marmalade bread, the vocal recordings for the simple, delicate gothic ballad „3 a.m.“ were completed. Both have a metal background, but the fusion of the two voices is unique. There is also a lot of subtlety, magic and personal expression in the other compositions on Liv Kristine's very first solo release, some of which were even sung in her native Norwegian. „Portrait. Ei tulle med øyne blå“, based on an old Norwegian children's song from 1905, was reinterpreted and recorded from scratch by Geir „Gerlioz“ Bratland (DIMMU BORGIR) in June 2023, exclusively for the re-release of „Deus ex Machina“. Liv Kristine has known this melody since her first weeks of life, as her mother and grandmother sang this song to little „Stine“ as a bedtime lullaby. Even at the age of six, Liv Kristine showed a special receptiveness to understanding music and the different types of singing. Not a day went by without the little blonde girl singing and standing dreamily in front of the mirror. The song „In the Heart of Juliet“ describes how she consciously and unconsciously experienced her childhood, the feelings of happiness, her love of magical melodies, the wonders of nature and its seasons, but also the freedom of being. To this day, she refers to the special experience of singing as „my magic bubble“.
