

Title: Essential NWOBHM Vol. 2Artist: VARIOUS*ESSENTIAL NWOBHM – The Best Of Neat Records Vol. 2

Hard rock was already around in the late sixties, and the seventies laid the foundation with bands such as Black Sabbath, Deep Purple, Uriah Heep, UFO, Kiss and Led Zeppelin. After the heyday of punk, heavy metal as we know it today emerged in England. Young bands took the hard rock of the aforementioned groups and mixed it with the energy and DIY attitude of the punk scene. The New Wave Of British Heavy Metal, or NWOBHM for short, was born and began as early as 1978, although experts like to see 1979 as its starting point. While the major labels were cautious in their approach (Iron Maiden, Saxon), the 'young wild ones' began pressing their own singles and LPs. The small recording studio Impulse in Newcastle had a similar idea and founded the label Neat Records for all the newcomers who recorded there. The pioneering work paid off and a few weeks later it was the most important independent company for the new, hard sounds from England. The Neat logo with its famous thumb developed a cult fascination for later generations of metal fans, who are happy to dig deep into their pockets for original vinyls. Following the hugely successful first instalment, Golden Core now presents 'Volume 2' of the compilation 'ESSENTIAL NWOBHM – THE BEST OF NEAT RECORDS'. There are only two bands in common with 'Volume 1', but once again there are many surprises and rare versions of songs. The CD was compiled and remastered by Neudi, who is considered an expert on the NWOBHM and plays in the well-known NWOBHM tribute band ROXXCALIBUR. The booklet contains many photos and, of course, liner notes.

Title: The AlbumArtist: ITALOVE

Italove, the Swedish trio of Dr Mateo, Blix, and LaRox, came together through a shared passion for the 80s sounds of Italo Disco and Hi-NRG. What began as casual studio experimentation quickly turned into a breakout moment with their debut track, „L'Amour,“ which caught the attention of Flashback Records - a label known for championing neo Italo Disco. The demo was immediately signed and released on vinyl, marking the start of Italove's rise to prominence. Their follow-up single, „Strangers in the Night,“ added two more standout tracks to their catalog and solidified their global presence. Soon, Italove was touring and sharing stages with legends like Ken Laszlo, Fred Ventura, P. Lion, Albert One, Linda Jo Rizzo, Fancy, and more.

After a numerous fan requests to release Italove album on vinyl, Disco Nostalgic finally delivers the wax. This essential collection features 12 tracks that showcase the group's mastery of the genre.

A must-have for any Italove fan and a gem for Italo Disco enthusiasts everywhere.

Title: A Different Picture

Artist: PETER WILSON

A synth-pop reinvention with heart, hooks, and retro soul.

After over three decades in the game, Peter Wilson returns with A Different Picture — his fourteenth studio album and a bold reimagining of his signature sound. It's a shimmering mix of 80s nostalgia, raw emotion, and fearless creativity.

Rooted in the golden age of New Wave, Italo Disco, New Romantic, and classic Synth Pop, the album nods to legends like Depeche Mode, Pet Shop Boys, Dead or Alive, and Yazoo, while embracing a fresh sonic edge. Fans of Wilson's PWL-inspired pop will feel right at home.

Nearly all tracks are self-written, offering his most personal lyrics yet — poetic, reflective, and full of metaphor — wrapped in lush synth layers and cinematic grooves.

Now signed to boutique Polish label Analog Language after 15 years with Energise Records, Wilson delivers his most melodic, introspective, and adventurous work to date.

If you're craving heartfelt synth-pop with a nostalgic glow and modern soul, A Different Picture is the album for you. Out on Analog Language.
