Title: Techno 2026 - Vinyl Edition

Artist: VARIOUS

Following the successful release of the CD „Techno 2026“ last year, an exclusive vinyl edition is now available. This record is not a simple re-release, but a curated excerpt from the original CD project: the three DJs have each selected their personal highlights and compiled them into this exclusive vinyl edition. Driving grooves, hypnotic sequences and atmospheric tension arcs reflect the sound that already made the CD a success – now condensed and refined for the vinyl format.

Title: 40 Years Of Metal Drumming

Artist: VARIOUS

-Box set with four albums featuring drummer Neudi (Manilla Road, Trance, Griffin, Savage Grace, among others)

-Limited edition with autographed card

At the age of 8, Andreas Neuderth, who has been known only by his nickname NEUDI since the mid-1980s, discovered his talent for the drums. Even earlier than that, he became a fan of hard rock sounds, the usual suspects such as Kiss, Status Quo and Rush. At the age of 15, in 1986, his drumming appeared for the first time on a tape by the band SUDDEN DARKNESS, which makes 2026 an anniversary year for the musician, who now lives in Rheinhausen. In addition to MANILLA ROAD (2011 until Mark Shelton's death in 2018) and SAVAGE GRACE (2009/2010), his best-known bands are currently TRANCE, ROXXCALIBUR, ANGEL OF DAMNATION, IRONSWORD, JAMESON RAID and Manilla Road's successor band SENTRY. Despite all these names, Neudi describes the 1994 ECONOMIST album 'New Built Ghetto Status' as 'one of the three best albums I've ever been on'. In fact, it's safe to say that ECONOMIST's style is probably one of a kind. In 1995, the CD was licensed by Massacre/Intercord, but its progressive style was simply too far ahead of its time. As a reissue, released for the first time as a double LP with the previously unreleased second album 'Mind Movies', it finally received the euphoric reviews it deserved. After a period of experimentation, VIRON (2004/2006 and 2008) marked Neudi's return to traditional metal, which he had never abandoned as a fan. The two highly acclaimed albums were indirectly the predecessors of the more successful band ROXXCALIBUR. SCROLLKEEPER is a band from Texas who wanted to collaborate with Neudi as Manilla Road fans for their EP 'Wetiko'. Neudi is known for his 'busy drumming'. Influenced by Neil Peart (Rush), Randy Foxe (Manilla Road) and Ian Paice (Deep Purple), he not only provides the genre's usual rhythm work 'in the background', but also brings the instrument to the fore in a striking way. (Info text by Michael Gresner, January 2026)

Title: Trash Attack
 Artist: VARIOUS

- Box set with four thrash metal albums
- Includes the album by RAGING VIOLENCE featuring four original HIRAX members
- Exclusive cover artwork

After the heyday of the late 1980s, things went quiet for the thrash metal genre, which was once pioneered by bands such as Metallica, Exodus and Legacy (Testament) in the USA, followed by Sodom, Kreator and Destruction in Germany. It wasn't until the 2000s that bands re-emerged who embraced this style, which roughly lies between speed metal and death metal. Today, thrash is probably bigger than ever before, thanks to many acts from the 1980s who are still active and a new generation of young musicians.

This vinyl box set contains four albums that are different but all belong to the same genre. First and foremost is RAGING VIOLENCE from the USA. This is the original line-up of HIRAX, but with singer Rob Perkins. New songs and re-recordings (including the rare demo track 'Born In The Streets') thrilled fans and critics alike. EXCESS from Germany was a death-thrash band that never made it to an album. After three demos, however, they also branched out in successful directions: Crematory, Mystic Circle and Blood. There was no more time for EXCESS... The demo recordings were restored and remastered and released by Golden Core/ZYX for the first time on LP and CD. On the tape 'Crucifixion' you can hear drummer Neudi (Manilla Road, Trance, Savage Grace, etc.).

In 1988, SCARECROW released 'Condemned To Be Doomed', a now rare self-pressed album that is probably one of the most unusual German thrash albums ever made. Here, punk attitude meets progressive elements, while the basis is flawless thrash. No other album sounds like this extraordinary work by the German band. From Brazil come (or came, as they are sometimes active, sometimes not...) POSSUIDO PELO CAO, who offer crossover thrash influenced by D.R.I. and Suicidal Tendencies. With their fast, short tracks, no eye remains dry... and no neck is spared. This hearty work from 2008 was only released on CD at the time.

-Approx. 525 minutes of music

This CD box set is almost unbelievable. It contains five CD compilations (two of which are double CDs) covering the entire spectrum of traditional heavy metal styles. From 70s heroes such as Kiss, Angel and Hawkwind to speed and thrash metal (Blind Illusion, Savage Grace and Living Death). Big names like Anthrax, Candlemass and Rage alternate with underground heroes like Manilla Road, Griffin and Jag Panzer. Neither US metal nor NWOBHM are neglected. The compilations included, 'The Epic Side Of Metal', 'Damn, This Stuff Is Heavy', 'Damn, This Stuff Is Heavy Vol. 2', 'Metal Cult Festival' and „Metal Ballads - Vol. 1: From The Underground“ not only contain exciting music, but also offer high-quality, elaborate booklets with many pages, packed with liner notes and illustrations. All CDs were correspondingly successful upon release. They make this exclusive box set an experience that could never be achieved with streaming....

Title: Zwischen Spiegeln und SchattenArtist: ROCKSTROM

With their second studio album, „Zwischen Spiegeln Und Schatten“ (Between Mirrors and Shadows), Rockstrom deliver energetic German rock that combines powerful riffs, catchy melodies and profound lyrics.

The 13 songs – including ‘Adrenalin’, ‘Vorhang Auf’ and ‘Wölfe, Schlangen und Dämonen’ – represent honest, modern rock that bridges the gap between classic hard rock and contemporary alternative sound. Authentic, intense and rousing – Rockstrom appeal to a broad target audience: fans of German rock, metal and melodic hard rock. But above all for fans who still carry music in their hearts.

The lyrics not only take a critical look at society, but also at the inner self. They deal with the ups and downs that life brings, the strength gained through social bonds, but also their dark sides.

In other words, the album is a game ‘Between Mirrors and Shadows’.

Title: Our Community Will Not Be ErasedArtist: JEREMY PELT

Jeremy Pelt's latest recording is one of his most culturally aware and musically astute projects yet. Pelt observes in his liner notes that the social realities „in these United States all but force you to constantly examine the virtues and contributions of your own community, if only for the sake of positive reinforcement... and the music I've produced herein for the world to hear seeks to be a part of that positive reinforcement." That perspective, echoed in his multi-volume book series Griot: Examining the Lives of Jazz's Great Storytellers, anchors a program that balances cultural heritage with musical innovation. Pelt's compositions flow effortlessly across straight-ahead neo-bop, spacious ballads, post-impressionist color, and the tasteful integration of electronics. Legendary bassist Buster Williams and acclaimed drummer Lenny White bring deep authority and experience, giving the album its solid grounding, while pianist Orrin Evans supplies a modern harmonic foundation that keeps the music vibrant and alive, as Lasse Corson sprinkles in subtle electronic colors. The result is a thrilling, forward-looking statement from a trumpeter and composer whose voice continues to grow with purpose, presence, and unmistakable personality.
